

PHYSICS AT SOUTHERN

Volume 41, electronic issue #6
May 6, 2000

Published once in awhile
For students, past & present, and friends of the Department

(SAU logo here)

(Physics Dept logo here)

FLASH

Finally, it happened !! Friday, May 5, 2000, the Physics Department Web site has its new look. The menu appears immediately at the left, and the fragmented button-and-message bar at the bottom of almost every page is almost totally repaired. These imperfections in the Dream Weaver template will hopefully be soon fixed, and there are still several links to be put in. Our thanks to Blake Laing, who is now our 83rd Physics graduate and is on his way to further study at the University of Oklahoma.

COLUMNS EXPRESS

You probably received this issue recently. The student who served as subject of the cover photograph and of the feature article, Stefan Rusek, is a Physics major also. Travis Schlist, whose work with NASA is described at bottom left center of the centerfold (i.e., on the same page as the feature article), is a Physics minor.

(Dr. Hefferlin is solely responsible for the contents of this issue.)